

INTRODUCTION TO THE LAURIER LIBRARY

Welcome! Today we will be going over basic information about what the library is, what you can do here and what resources we have for you.

We have many resources in the library that will be useful for your assignments, or for fun.

These include journals, newspapers, books, business and financial information, and even movies and music.

You can come here and study alone or book rooms for group work.

You can print, photocopy or scan documents.

You are not just limited to the resources in the library. You can have books delivered from other libraries for you to pick up here.

Even if you are not in the library, you can still access all our online information, using your Laurier login--the same one you use for your Laurier e-mail.

On our website, you can watch other video tutorials on issues related to doing research for your assignments. You can also look at our Help pages.

Librarians are here to help you with your research, so don't feel shy to ask questions! If you are having trouble or want an introduction to how things work, our librarians are more than happy to help.
